KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND IN A BODY

Lebanon Lodge in Session, Too, During Evening-Vaudeville Performances Please Visitors.

The attendance at the new Masgnic Temple housewarming last night was almost twice as large as on any previous evening, the crowd of pleasure seekers being greatly augmented by the Right Eminent Grand Commander W. H. H. Cissel presided at the didication. The commanderies of the District met and formed in line at the old temple in F street.

March to New Temple.

Under the direction of Sir Knight Frank E. Gibson, senior adjutant of the jurisdiction, headed by the Marine Band and escorted by Mary Commandery, No. 36, of Philadelphia, the members marched to the new temple.

During the dedicatory services, an octet, composed of Sir Knights Turpin, Kaiser, Mosher, Humphrey, Han-cock, McFarland, Myers, and Holland sang appropriate music, and Sir Knight Walter Humphrey gave a bass solo. Columbia Commandery was host at a banquet later in the evening at Hotel

Gordon.

All unmindful of the serious work behind closed doors, the large, surging crowd divided time between the vaude-ville entertainments on the fifth floor, the ball room on the first, and the banquet hall in the basement.

The 8 o'clock bill drew a capacity audience, who received the performance with manifest pleasure.

Features on the Bill.

A song and dance specialty by a company of young girls, Miss Thelma Payne, Miss Gertrude Thompson, Miss Literary Notes. Payne, Miss Gertrude Thompson, Miss Eleanor Warneson, Miss Lorena Gaskill, Miss Louise Jacobs, Miss Pauline Spengler, and Miss Sterling Scott, was one of the best features of the evening. Those taking part in the act were Miss Helen Berens, Miss Ruby Raymond, Miss Ethel King, Miss Gladys Kain, and Miss Oilie Meyer. W. E. Taylor sang "I Wonder If You Miss Me." Sergt, Edward Lyons, of Fort Myer, gave an army monologue; Frank M. Paynter sang songs, and the Featherton instrumental entertainers closed the bill with their customary sylendid act.

Chairman Wilson said last night that the management had concluded, owing to the great popularity of the vaude-vile performances and the Imited capacity of the upstairs auditorium, to have some of the best acts reproduced in the large auditorium downstairs between the dances. OUTPUT OF CLEVER FALL BOOKS THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD OFFERS ALLURING ARRAY TO READING PUBLIC.

Good wine needs no bush, and the vine of criticism is fine and rich in all wine of criticism is fine and rich in all the work of Dr. Brooke. It need only be said, therefore, that the latest volume from his pen is "Four Victorian Poets." The Putnams have recently had the satisfaction of publishing it. It consists of studies of Arthur Hugh Clough, Matthew Arnold, D. J. Rosetti, and William Morris. Their share in the poetic movement of the latter half of the nineteenth century needs to be acknowledged and appreciated, and it is Dr. Brooke's endeavor in the present volume to give a just estimate of the quality and importance of their work. Those who have read Dr. Brooke's able expositions of the art of Tennyson and Browning will expect the same insight and literary judgment here, and will not be disappointed.

This volume is uniform with Dr. This volume is uniform with Dr. Brooke's "Tennyson: His Art and Relation to Modern Life" and the same critic's "Studies in Poetry."

The following is the opening para members of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, who dedicated their new home with great pomp and ceremony.

Along with the commandery services was other Masonic work of a secret character, conducted behind closed doors, while men and women crowded stairways and roamed over the building.

Lebanon Lodge was in session, and while the lodge was at "refreshment" last night the doors to the ante-room were opened, and the women visitors allowed to look into the lodge as it swarmed with the Masons ready for "work." There were many inquiries as to the location of the goat, showing on the part of the visitors an acquaintance with some of the published stories regarding the ritualism of the order, at least.

Tiernan, of North Carolina, and the author of "The Man of the Family," "The Chase of an Heiress," and a number of other popular novels. G. P. Putnam's Sons are Mrs. Tiernan's publishers. "The Princess Nadine" received a very warm welcome from the public.

Santos-Dumont's Story.

With the newspapers of late full of aviators and aeroplanes, it is not surprising that the week's most popular books in New York should include Santos Dumont's "My Airship"—this is nonfiction. At the fiction end of it, the first novel on the list continues to be "The Barrier," by Rex Beach, the second, Winston Churchill's "Mr. Crewe's Career."

and Miss Clara L. Johnson, sang a solo.

The 9 o'clock bill opened with a turn by the Koester Trio, instrumentalists. Miss Edna Wilcox won the applause of the audience with a fancy costume dance, and Miss Mary Smith, in a song and dance, was also good. Miss Roberta Amies, in a plano solo, and Miss Mabel Latimer, in a soprano solo, added greatly to the worth of the bill.

The management made a hit with the audience by requesting the women to remove their hats before the 10 o'clock show started.

In this bill the undisputed headliner was the song-and-dance specialty by a company of young girls, costumed as ladies and knights, who gave an act akin to the famous Florodora sextet.

These two youngsters were charged his proceedings for annulment were with having broken into the Butler his proceedings for annulment were apartments over the store at 1329 G divorce from Clifford, her prior huswith having broken into the Butler apartments over the store at 1320 G street northwest, by way of the skylight, and stolen $600 worth of jewelry while the family was away. Shortly after they had taken the jewelry, they said, they became frightened, and decided to dispose of the loot in a manner that would cover up their tracks, so they dumped it into the sewer at Thirteenth and G streets. Almost $200 worth of this was recovered by the police yesterday, after cleaning out the sewer. Several rings were found here, including a diamond ring worth $60, a wedding ring worth $15, an opal ring worth $25, and a $75 ring, from which the settling is missing.

A small diamond ring and a bracelet were also recovered. The sewer having been cleaned out on September 24, which was twenty days after the boys deposited the jewelry there, the District sewer dump can be said to be set in jewelry. A gold watch was destroyed by the boys, this and the small diamond ring being the only pieces not thrown into the sewer.
